I read a negative review dated 3/12/13 by someone who didn't even contract with Mr. Contractor and felt I would just like to tell them - too bad you listened to your mom. Here's what I got for my money:

- they showed up everyday; never pulled off my job to work somewhere else for the day
- I got a dedicated carpenter who was not stumped by anything; he met every challenge my condo threw at him
- the job was scheduled so that the day after the carpentry/sheetrocking ended, the painter arrived, then the granite installation, then the plumber and the tile guys. My neighbors couldn't believe how quickly the job was completed and how great it looked.
- ran into a major electrical issue that was hidden until ceilings came down. It added a full day to the job, but 3 guys were sent here within two days and it was reworked within that day.

Loved all the work that was done and wouldn't trade the experience for a quote that was half the amount. And that is what you missed, Key A.
