I don't even know where to begin. Mr. Contractor has been a blessing. My mom and I hired Mr. Contractor back in October, 2013 to remodel mom's two bedrooms, which were in need of some serious updates and to replace old ceiling tiles in the kitchen and living room. We called them to get an estimate and were so impressed with Ken Spector when he came out that we hired them right on the spot. Since it was going to be a messy job, we took mom out of the house for a week so she wouldn't be in the way. Ken and his crew kept us up-to-date with phone calls, e-mails, pictures of the problems, etc. the entire time so we could make the appropriate decisions. They found faulty wiring after the old ceiling tiles were removed in the kitchen so we had them replace the wiring before putting the new tiles up. There was no pressure from Ken to have them do the work, they were just keeping us advised of the problems. Needless to say, the house looked great after the work. Of course, there were minor issues like a scratched wall, missing, paint, so we called Ken and someone was out there the next day to fix these issues.

And, now to the recent dilemma. After all the bad weather this year in the northeast, mom discovered a leak in her bathroom ceiling. She called Ken and he was there right away checking out the problem. He discovered that there was a tear on her roof, which had water leaking in the house and down the siding in her yard. He sent his crew out the next day and put on a new roof. The siding will be replaced once the weather gets back to normal.

I can't say enough good things about Mr. Contractor, Ken and his entire staff. The quote and completion date estimates were accurate. All of the people who came to work on the house were professional, courteous, and knowledgeable. They far exceeded our expectations of contractors and we would highly recommend them. If other issues arrive, we will use them again in a heartbeat.
